(Lycium barbarum)

BLACK GOJI BERRY

Long celebrated in the Himalayan region as a powerful medicinal and health food. Known to be more healthful, potent and sweeter than the more widely known red goji. Tasty, inky black berries are exceptionally high in antioxidants said to boost the immune system and improve circulation.

PLANTING INSTRUCTIONS

Soak seeds in warm (70-85 F) water for 24 hours before planting. Add sand to potting mix. Goji prefers an alkaline soil and prefers to stay fairly dry, but tolerates most soils.
